Senator from the State of Minnesota,

No. 62-CV-09-56

Cullen Sheehan and Norm Coleman,

Contestants,

CONTESTEE'S FIRST AMENDED
ANSWER AND COUNTERCLAIMS

v.

Al Franken,

Contestee.

INTRODUCTION

Contestee, Al Franken ("Franken"), certified as having been chosen as United States Senator by the people of Minnesota in the November 4, 2008, election ("Election"), files this First Amended Answer and Counterclaims to the Notice of Contest ("Notice") filed by Contestants Norm Coleman and Cullen Sheehan (collectively, "Coleman").

Franken affirmatively states that—as unanimously and accurately determined by the State Canvassing Board in the Certificate incorporated into Coleman's Notice as Exhibit A—Franken, and not Coleman, was chosen by the plurality of votes lawfully cast in the General Election. In this Answer, Franken responds to the allegations in Coleman's Notice to the degree possible, a task made arduous or impossible by Coleman's refusal or inability to identify in the Notice and within the seven day period what, precisely, it is that he thinks will overturn the judgment of the State Canvassing Board or where there were mistakes in counting the votes. To the extent that any allegation in the Notice is not expressly admitted, it is denied.

All allegations and Counterclaims herein are pleaded subject to the Court's limited jurisdiction pursuant to the United States Constitution and Minn. Stat. § 209.12.

ANSWER

1 As to Paragraph 1 of the Notice, Franken is without information as to whether contestant Cullen Sheehan ("Sheehan"), Coleman's campaign manager who came from Iowa for that purpose, is a Minnesota resident qualified as an eligible voter under Minnesota election law or as to whether he cast an absentee ballot in the Election. Franken denies Sheehan's allegations that the State Canvassing Board erroneously declared that Franken received the plurality of votes lawfully cast in the Election.

2. As to Paragraph 2 of the Notice, Franken admits that Coleman is a Minnesota resident, eligible to vote under Minnesota election law, who was a United States Senator from the State of Minnesota until his term expired on Saturday, January 3, 2009. Franken admits that Coleman voted in the General Election. Franken denies Coleman's allegations that the State Canvassing Board erroneously declared that Franken received the plurality of votes lawfully cast in the Election. Franken admits that Coleman's name appeared on the official ballot as a candidate for the office of United States Senator in all counties within the State of Minnesota.

3. As to Paragraph 3 of the Notice, Franken admits that his name appeared on the official ballot as a candidate for the office of United States Senator in all counties within the State of Minnesota.

4. As to Paragraph 4 of the Notice, Franken admits the allegations.

5. As to Paragraph 5 of the Notice, Franken objects to Coleman's effort to define "ballot," which is defined by provisions of Minnesota and federal election law. To the extent Coleman's definition attempts to disenfranchise Minnesotans by excluding ballots lawfully cast, but which could not be run through voting machines on Election Day, Franken objects.

6. As to Paragraph 6 of the Notice, Franken admits that Coleman apparently uses the term "Election Materials" within his Notice to refer to the materials described in this paragraph of his Notice.

7. As to Paragraph 7 of the Notice, Franken admits the allegations.

8. As to Paragraph 8 of the Notice, Franken admits that the State Canvassing Board determined that he received 1,212,431 votes in contrast to Coleman's 1,212,206 votes and signed a Certificate attesting to these results. Franken further admits that, consistent with the transparency with which the Secretary of State and State Canvassing Board have carried out their duties, the vote totals and certificate were quickly posted to the Secretary of State's website. Franken denies that the Board erroneously concluded that he received the plurality of votes lawfully cast in the election.

9. As to Paragraph 9 of the Notice, Franken denies the allegations. Specifically, Franken denies that any unidentified "errors, mistakes and other irregularities," including "matters and things," took place or affected the outcome of the Election. Coleman's Notice provides absolutely no basis for Franken to identify or respond to the unspecified issues asserted in Paragraph 9 and fails to identify any particular ballots (among the 2.9 million cast), precincts, or even counties at issue. Minn. Stat. § 209.12 precludes the Court from making any findings or conclusions with respect to allegations of "errors, mistakes and other irregularities" (or similar "matters and things") and thus precludes addressing those in the re-counting sought by Coleman. Moreover, as further set forward in Franken's Affirmative Defenses, every material rule and recount procedure adopted by the State Canvassing Board or promulgated by the Secretary of State was formulated with Coleman's input and consent, and often at Coleman's request or demand, and Coleman demanded that many of these rules and procedures be followed during the recount until it became expedient for him to repudiate his prior agreements.

10. As to Paragraph 10 of the Notice, Franken objects to Coleman's use of the phrase "By way of example only" as an illegitimate attempt to hide until later allegations of improperly rejected absentee ballot envelopes and to do so in violation of the seven-day limit and specificity requirements of Minn. Stat. § 209.021 and 209.12. Trial must commence no more than 20 days after the Notice was filed. The ballot envelopes in question were received by county election officials over two months ago. A complete list of rejected absentee ballot envelopes has been available for nearly as long. Minn. Stat. § 209.12 precludes the Court from making any findings or conclusions with respect to allegations of wrongfully and erroneously excluded ballots and thus precludes addressing such allegations in the re-counting sought by Coleman. In contrast to the current allegations in Paragraph 10, Coleman was careful, in his briefing to the Minnesota Supreme Court on this issue, to note that he did not know if these ballots were improperly rejected. See e.g., Motion for Emergency Order, December 31, 2008, at 3 ("the Coleman campaign was able to identify approximately 650 such ballots that appear on their face to raise a question as to whether the ballots were properly rejected") (emphasis added). Pursuant to a December 18, 2008, order of the Minnesota Supreme Court and a Protocol jointly created by Coleman, Franken, the Secretary of State, and local election officials, local election officials identified 1,346 ballots that were wrongfully rejected on Election Day for a reason other than the four exclusive statutory reasons set forth in Minn. Stat. § 203B.12. In the course of their re-review of rejected absentee ballots, each of the 654 ballots was again rejected as invalidly cast. Coleman submitted this list of ballots after the Protocol's deadline for doing so had passed. Franken admits that his campaign objected to the untimely submittal of these ballots, as often did the involved local election officials, and that he refused to agree to the untimely submittal of ballots identified by Coleman in the absence of any evidence that they were legally cast. Franken therefore admits that these ballots were not opened and counted by the Secretary of State on January 3, 2009. The only common thread among these 654 ballots was that they were cast in areas which favored Coleman. For example, 94 are from Dakota County, which Coleman won by 8%, and 64 are from the City of Plymouth, which Coleman won by 12%. Outer jurisdictions where Coleman won by more than 20% are heavily represented: 32 from Scott County; 31 from Carver County; 23 from Sherburne County; and 15 from Wright County. Finally, Franken admits that the Minnesota Supreme Court rejected Coleman's complaint that the Protocol, which required the agreement of all parties before a ballot was counted, did not result in all ballots being counted (or left uncounted) precisely how he wished.

11. As to Paragraph 11 of the Notice, Franken objects to Coleman's allegations that "[o]n information and belief" unspecified absentee ballots were irregularly rejected by local election officials as an illegitimate attempt to reserve the right to raise further allegations of irregularly rejected absentee ballot envelopes without setting forth the specific grounds of this contest within seven days as required by Minn. Stat. § 209.021 and 209.12. Minn. Stat. § 209.12 precludes the Court from making any findings or conclusions with respect to allegations of irregularities with respect to excluded ballots and thus precludes addressing those in the re-counting sought by Coleman. As to the allegations of Paragraph 11, as alleged in the First Counterclaim, certain absentee ballots were erroneously rejected by local elections officials or objected to by Contestants and should be counted. To the extent not responded to herein, the allegations of Paragraph 11 are denied.

12. As to Paragraph 12 of the Notice, Franken objects to Coleman's use of the phrase "By way of example only" for the reasons identified in Franken's answer to paragraphs 10. Minn. Stat. § 209.12 precludes the Court from making any findings or conclusions with respect to allegations of irregularities in Paragraph 12 and thus precludes addressing those in the recounting sought by Coleman. Franken denies the allegations of this paragraph, and specifically objects and states as follows:

(a) Franken denies that Minn. Stat. § 206.86 has any bearing on a manual recount conducted pursuant to Minn. Stat. 204C.35 and Minn. R. 8235 et seq. or an election contest under Minn. Stat. § 209.12, and he further denies that any irregular double-counting occurred in the precincts identified in Exhibit C. The very essence of a recount—the determination of the voter's intent and the existence of disqualifying distinguishing marks—could not be fulfilled by examining a duplicate ballot that was filled out by an election judge interpreting a voter's intent. Franken admits that Coleman's petition to the Minnesota Supreme Court regarding duplicate ballots was unanimously rejected, in part because of his inability to present a single instance of double-counting. Franken objects to Coleman's effort to reserve the right to raise further allegations of irregularly-handled duplicate ballots in further unspecified counties. Finally, and for the reasons stated in Franken's affirmative defenses below, Coleman is estopped from challenging the inclusion of unmatched original ballots in the recount because he himself proposed that such ballots should be counted, the Secretary of State and Franken agreed that this approach was consistent with Minnesota law, and the entire recount was carried out utilizing the procedure to which all parties agreed.

(b) Franken denies the allegations of Paragraph 12(b) of the Notice. Franken objects to Coleman's effort to reserve the right to raise additional irregularities with respect to unspecified ballots in unspecified precincts. Franken denies that unspecified "chain of custody" irregularities mandate the disenfranchisement of voters in Maplewood Precinct 6 and Saint Paul Ward 3, Precinct 9. Further, Contestants' claims with respect to these two precincts have now been dismissed by Contestants.

(c) Franken denies the allegations of paragraph 12(c). In Minneapolis Ward 3 Precinct 1, 2,028 ballots were cast on Election Day, but only 1,896 ballots initially were found during the recount. Election officials found five ballot envelopes. One was a different color and contained write-ins. The other four were labeled "2 of 5," "3 of 5," "4 of 5" and "5 of 5." There was no envelope labeled "1 of 5." After an extensive investigation, Minneapolis Director of Elections Cindy Reichert testified to the Board that there was simply no doubt that the ballots had been cast, counted, and then lost. Minnesota law is equally clear that where missing ballots cannot be found, election officials must turn to the next best evidence: here, the vote totals provided by election officials on Election Day. Franken denies that Coleman's relentless effort to disenfranchise the voters who cast these ballots has any factual or legal validity.

(d) Franken denies the allegations of Paragraph 12(d) of the Notice except as stated and objects that these and other allegations are barred by laches and estoppel for the reasons set forth in Franken's Affirmative Defenses. The allegations are also barred by the Stipulation and Order of February 3, 2009, wherein Coleman dismissed with prejudice all claims relating to the 933 ballots opened and counted on January 3, 2009. Franken admits that the counties of Hennepin and Ramsey determined that five persons whose ballots had initially been identified as wrongfully rejected had voted in person on Election Day and that these voters' absentee ballots were duly removed from the list.

(e) Franken cannot meaningfully and intelligently respond to the allegations of Paragraph 12(e) of the Notice because the Notice does not identify any absentee ballot envelopes that were irregularly accepted by election officials on Election Day, and therefore denies the same.<sup>1</sup> Coleman has had two months to identify absentee ballot envelopes that were accepted in error, and his conclusory and bare speculation that some absentee ballot envelopes were accepted in error fails to provide the specificity within seven days required by Minn. Stat. § 209.021 and 209.12.

(f) Franken cannot meaningfully and intelligently respond to the allegations of Paragraph 12(f) of the Notice because Coleman fails to identify a single ballot that he believes was irregularly rejected, and therefore denies the same. Franken denies the allegations of paragraph 12(f), and further notes that Minnesota law provides one of the clearest and most comprehensive voter intent statutes in the country. See Minn. Stat. § 204C.22. During the course of its resolution of campaign challenges to ballots, the State Canvassing Board—made up of the Chief Justice and an Associate Justice of the Minnesota Supreme Court, the Chief and Assistant Chief Judge of the Second Judicial District, and the Secretary of State—thoughtfully and consistently applied Minn. Stat. § 204C.22 to each challenged ballot. Coleman cannot seriously maintain that the Board somehow “inconsistently” but systematically rejected Coleman challenges to ballots cast for Franken.

<sup>1</sup> Coleman’s allegation that envelopes were accepted that did not comply with the requirements of Minn. Stat. § 203B.13 presumably sought to reference Minn. Stat. § 203B.12. Minn. Stat. §203B.13 governs the establishment, duties, and compensation of absentee ballot boards and does not set forward requirements governing the acceptance of absentee ballots.

(g) Franken objects to Coleman's bare and conclusory allegations regarding unspecified successful Franken ballot challenges that were irregularly accepted by the Board and denies the allegations of Paragraph 12(g) of the Notice for the reasons stated in his answer to the allegations contained in Paragraph 12(f).

13. As to Paragraph 13 of the Notice, Franken cannot meaningfully and intelligently respond to the allegations because Coleman fails to identify any ballots that were mutilated, defaced, or obliterated such that the voter's intent could not be determined. Franken denies the allegations for the reasons stated in his answer to the allegations contained in Paragraph 12(f). To the extent that Paragraph 13 encompasses ballots that Coleman did not challenge during the recount, and as set forth in Franken's Affirmative Defenses, laches bars him from challenging such ballots. To the extent it encompasses ballots he did challenge, he has not identified any irregularity in the resolution of such challenges. Minn. Stat. § 209.12 precludes the Court from making any findings or conclusions with respect to allegations of irregularities with respect to counting ballots in poor condition and thus precludes addressing those in the re-recounting sought by Coleman.

14. As to Paragraph 14 of the Notice, Franken cannot adequately and intelligently respond to the allegations and therefore denies the same. Coleman does not identify a single voter who he claims did not comply with the requirements of the "Minnesota Election Law" and nonetheless had his or her vote counted. Coleman does not even identify which provision of the "Minnesota Election Law" is at issue. Coleman does not allege or even hint why these unspecified irregularities by unspecified voters require the disenfranchisement of such voters. To the extent that Coleman alleges that the unspecified voters at issue engaged in unspecified fraud or other irregularities, the Court lacks jurisdiction under Minn. Stat. § 209.12 to make any findings or conclusions with respect to such allegations or to take those into account in the re-counting sought by Coleman.

15. As to Paragraph 15 of the Notice, Franken cannot adequately and intelligently respond to the allegations and therefore denies the same. Coleman does not identify a single “unqualified and ineligible” voter who he claims cast a vote that was counted for Franken. Coleman does not identify the provision of the “Minnesota Election Law” which rendered these voters “unqualified and ineligible.” To the extent that Coleman alleges that the unspecified voters at issue engaged in unspecified fraud or other irregularities, the Court lacks jurisdiction under Minn. Stat. § 209.12 to make any findings or conclusions with respect to such allegations or to take those into account in the re-counting sought by Coleman.

16. As to Paragraph 16 of the Notice, Franken cannot adequately and intelligently respond to the allegations and therefore denies the same. Coleman does not identify a single voter who voted more than once. Coleman does not identify a precinct or even county where any voter cast more than one ballot, election officials counted both ballots, and the Board certified the result. To the extent that Coleman alleges that the unspecified voters at issue engaged in election fraud or other irregularity, the Court lacks jurisdiction under Minn. Stat. § 209.12 to make any findings or conclusions with respect to such allegations or to take those into account in the re-counting sought by Coleman.

17. As to Paragraph 17 of the Notice, Franken denies the allegations for the reasons stated in his answer to Paragraph 12(f). Franken further denies that certain unspecified ballots challenged by Coleman were irregularly rejected by the Board on the grounds that they contained distinguishing marks or unclear expressions of voter intent. Minn. Stat. § 209.12 precludes the Court from making any findings or conclusions with respect to allegations of irregularities with respect to rejecting ballots and thus precludes addressing those in the re-counting sought by Coleman.

18. As to Paragraph 18 of the Notice, Franken denies that Coleman's troubling insinuations have any bearing on the outcome of the Election whatsoever. Coleman's suggestion that a voter should be disenfranchised because an election judge committed the minor irregularity of failing to initial the backs of the ballot is cavalierly dismissive of the fundamental right to vote and profoundly at odds with Minnesota law, which is properly clear that innocent voters should not be disenfranchised because of irregularities, ignorance, inadvertence, or mistake on the part of election officials. Minn. Stat. § 209.12 precludes the Court from making any findings or conclusions with respect to allegations of irregularities such as initialing and thus precludes addressing those in the re-counting sought by Coleman.

19. As to Paragraph 19 of the Notice, to the extent that it alleges that the Board failed to detect and correct obvious errors that are not identified in his Notice, Franken objects to Coleman's failure to adequately set forward the grounds on which his contest will be made so that Franken can meaningfully respond. With respect to Coleman's claim that the Board failed to correct the "obvious errors" described within ¶ 11, Franken notes that the Minnesota Supreme Court held on December 18, 2008, that "improper rejection of an absentee ballot envelopes is not within the scope of errors subject to correction . . . and therefore county canvassing boards lack statutory authority to count such ballots and submitted amended reports on that basis." Order, December 18, 2008, at 2. Even if an error had occurred in the manner suggested in this paragraph, it would be an irregularity that cannot be determined by the Court or considered in the re-counting. Franken denies the other allegations of Paragraph 19 for the reasons set forth in his answer to the allegations of paragraphs 12-17. Again, even if an error had occurred in the manner suggested in this paragraph, Minn. Stat. § 209.12 precludes the Court from making any findings or conclusions with respect to allegations of irregularities in the Board's process and decisions and thus precludes addressing those in the re-counting sought by Coleman.

20. As to Paragraph 20 of the Notice, Franken objects to the allegations insofar as Coleman fails to identify even what manner of “obvious errors” were allegedly undetected and uncorrected by local canvassing boards during the initial canvass, let alone any specific errors which were made. Even if an error had occurred in the manner suggested in this paragraph, Minn. Stat. § 209.12 precludes the Court from making any findings or conclusions with respect to allegations of irregularities with respect to the process or decisions of local canvassing boards and thus precludes addressing those in the re-counting sought by Coleman.

21. As to Paragraph 21 of the Notice, it contains legal conclusions and requires no response. Errors, violations of law, and other irregularities during the Election and recount did not result in Franken's receiving more votes than Coleman. Franken won because more voters cast lawful ballots for him.

22. Franken denies that Coleman has any need to inspect ballots to prepare his case for trial. The Coleman campaign has viewed each of the 2.9 million ballots cast in this election during the course of the recount and has no conceivable need to reinspect ballots. Franken denies that Coleman has any need to inspect election materials for the reasons stated in his answer to paragraph 23.

23. Franken objects to Coleman's request to inspect ballots as premature. Until the court rules on Franken's motion to dismiss Coleman's allegations, Coleman's need to inspect election materials from particular precincts, or to take discovery, cannot be determined. This Court should limit inspections to only those election materials that may be relevant to this election contest, and should do so after making its ruling as to the sufficiency of Coleman's claims.

24. Franken denies that yet another recount is required. The State of Minnesota has already recounted 2.9 million ballots cast in the General Election. This process cost the State of Minnesota at least $200,000 and lasted well over a month. Ballots contested by either campaign were examined and resolved by the State Canvassing Board. At this point, all ballots in the State of Minnesota have been counted at least twice. Those challenged before the State Canvassing Board have been counted at least three times. Franken also objects to Coleman's request for the court to order a recount in only certain precincts. This request invites the court to authorize manifest constitutional error by authorizing a recanvass of some—but not all—precincts and applying new rules to only those recanvassed ballots.

AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES

Subject Matter Jurisdiction

1. The court lacks subject matter jurisdiction.

Constitutionality of the Procedures and Relief Sought

2. The procedures and relief sought by Coleman violate Article 1, Sections 5, of the United States Constitution.
3. Coleman's request to re-recount only precincts that he selects violates equal protection under the Minnesota and United States Constitutions.

Estoppel, Laches, and Unclean Hands—Procedures Governing Recount of Original/Duplicate Ballots

4. The fundamental and sole objective of a recount is to ascertain the number of “votes validly cast” for each candidate. Minn. Stat. § 204C.35, subd. 3. A ballot is valid if the voter's intent is determinable. Minn. Stat. § 204C.22, subd. 1. Where a duplicate of a ballot was created under Minn. Stat. § 206.86, the fundamental necessity of determining voter intent from the original ballots was recognized by all parties at the commencement of the recount process. During a telephone conference convened by the Secretary of State's office with both campaigns to establish rules for the recount, Coleman proposed that original ballots be counted. Franken agreed.

5. In reliance on the parties' agreement, on November 17, 2008, the Secretary of State's Office issued revised proposed rules for the recount. The rules were adopted by the State Canvassing Board on Tuesday, November 18, 2008, and, because the Board adopted Coleman's position, there was no objection from Coleman. Rule 9 provides as follows:

As the Table Official sorts the ballots, he or she shall remove all ballots that are marked as duplicate ballots and place those duplicate ballots in a fourth pile. At the conclusion of the sorting process, the Table Official shall open the envelope of original ballots for which duplicates were made for that precinct and sort the original ballots in the same manner as they sorted all other ballots. The Table Official shall disregard this step if there is not an envelope of original ballots, in which case the duplicate ballots will be sorted.

Later, the Secretary of State made it even more clear to county election officials that they were to tabulate original ballots rather than duplicates during the recount whenever possible. This directive stated as follows:

- * If no ballots marked as duplicates, no reason to go to Original Envelope, there is no way to pull out duplicates to replace with originals.
- * If ballots are marked as duplicated, pull out duplicates, not matched to originals, just sort and count the originals.
- * If obvious difference between number of duplicates & originals, discuss with candidate representatives, noting decision if counted duplicates or originals on the incident log.

Before sending this directive, Deputy Secretary of State Jim Gelbmann distributed it to both campaigns, explaining, "This will go to all election officials later today. Call or e-mail if you have concerns." In addition, Deputy Secretary Gelbmann explained:

It is the opinion of our Office that Rule 9 is clear about the process to be used when duplicate ballots are found during the sorting process. Those ballots are to be removed from the sorting process and placed in a separate (sic) pile. If there is an envelope of original ballots, the original ballots should then be sorted. If there are no duplicate ballots found during the sorting process, the canvass board has not authorized the envelope of original ballots to be opened and the original ballots envelope should remain sealed. If no envelope of original ballots exist, the duplicate ballots should then be sorted. While there is no requirement to compare the number of duplicate ballots to the number of original ballots, if there is an apparent significant discrepancy in the numbers, the candidates' representatives should attempt to agree on whether to sort the original or duplicate ballots. The Deputy recount official shall note on the incident log if the duplicates rather than original ballots were counted. If the two candidate representatives can not agree, the Deputy Recount Official shall sort and count the original (sic) ballots.

Coleman did not object. Indeed, instead of objecting, Coleman's authorized representative responded that this "was perfectly clear."

6. The Coleman campaign was vigilant during the recount about enforcing the parties' agreement as embodied in Rule 9 and as explained by Deputy Secretary Gelbmann. Thus, on November 20, early in the recount, Coleman's authorized representative sent an email to Deputy Secretary Gelbmann and the Secretary of State's head of elections, Gary Poser, in which he complained that Anoka County officials had rejected "clear Coleman originals" because of the "lack of a corresponding duplicate." Mr. Gelbmann checked and determined that the allegation was false: The original ballots were, in fact, being counted even when a duplicate could not be found. After being apprised of these facts, Coleman's representative sent an email thanking Deputy Secretary Gelbmann, and stating: "I clarified this yesterday afternoon with Gary Poser and our Anoka County Lead Representative. We understand that Anoka County officials had a telephone conference with Gary Poser on this matter and all proceeded according to the Secretary of State's original directions."

7. It is not only Franken who relied in good faith on the agreement that Coleman had entered into with him and the Secretary of State. County and municipal election officials in 87 counties similarly relied on the Secretary of State's approved guidance in performing their duties. Coleman representatives insisted on the counting of original rather than duplicate ballots when there were more original than duplicate ballots found.

8. On December 19, at the very conclusion of the State Canvassing Board's consideration of ballot challenges, Coleman raised, and the Board considered, his newfound claim that where the number of original ballots for which duplicates were created exceeded the number of duplicates found, use of the originals might result in double-counting votes.

9. Where, as here, all relevant parties agreed, consistent with Minnesota law, that the original ballots would be counted during the recount whenever possible, Coleman is estopped from challenging the very process to which he agreed. As a result of the parties' agreement, the Secretary of State's Office directed county election officials to tabulate original ballots rather than duplicates. Franken and the entire recount and canvass by both the county canvassing boards and the State Canvassing Board relied on Coleman's action in entering the tripartite agreement, which Coleman insisted should be subject to strict compliance until it no longer served his purposes and he renounced the agreement. Because of Coleman's gross delay, estoppel, laches, and unclean hands bar his stale (and baseless) allegations of double-counting as a ground for challenging the election results.

Estoppel, Laches, and Unclean Hands—Unchallenged Ballots

10. In the course of the recount process, it became apparent that a large number of lawfully cast absentee ballots were erroneously set aside on Election Day and never counted. On December 18, in granting Coleman relief in the lawsuit he had pursued, the Minnesota Supreme Court ordered the parties to establish a process by which, upon the agreement of the local election officials and the candidates that an absentee ballot had been rejected in error, the unopened absentee ballot envelope could be counted and the ballot added to the recount. Under this Order, any agreement that a ballot was improperly rejected was voluntary and unanimity was required before a ballot could be counted.

11. Pursuant to the December 18 Order and a subsequent December 24 Order extending the deadline for compliance, and working well into the afternoon on Christmas Eve, the Secretary of State's Office, local officials, and the two candidates agreed to the Protocol by which any absentee ballot that the local officials and candidates agreed was rejected in error was to be opened and counted in the election for United States Senator.

12. Local officials in the elections offices and county attorneys offices throughout the state worked long hours throughout the holiday week to identify such ballots and to furnish both candidates lists of ballots recommended to be opened and counted. By the close of business on Friday, December 26, the local officials' lists totaled 1,346 ballots, from 60 counties.

13. Campaign representatives were given the opportunity to object to the 1,346 identified ballots. Eventually, the campaigns reached agreement that 933 of the 1,346 ballots identified by local officials would be opened and counted. These ballots were sent to the Secretary of State's office, where they were opened and counted in the presence of campaign representatives.

14. Coleman is now estopped from challenging the absentee ballots described in paragraph 12(d). Coleman's claims of irregularity as to some of the 933 ballots is also barred by laches and the doctrine of unclean hands.

15. To the extent that Coleman failed to challenge the ballots described in Paragraph 13 of his Notice during the recount, the allegations of that paragraph are barred by laches and estoppel.

Failure to Exhaust Administrative Remedies

16. Coleman had, and frequently took advantage of, the opportunity to have local election officials and the State Canvassing Board address such issues as voter intent, spoiled or distinctively marked ballots, voter eligibility, and absentee ballot validation. To the extent he now raises issues not raised before, he has failed to exhaust his administrative remedies.

COUNTERCLAIMS

The following counterclaims are conditioned on rejection by the Court of Franken's arguments as to the Court's jurisdictional limits and the failure of Coleman to state any claim. By making these Counterclaims, Franken preserves, and does not waive, all of his arguments in those regards.

As to each Counterclaim, Franken alleges that he is a Minnesota resident qualified as an eligible voter under Minnesotan election law. Franken voted in the General Election.

FIRST COUNTERCLAIM

ERRONEOUSLY REJECTED ABSENTEE BALLOTS

1. Franken has identified a number of absentee ballots that were rejected in error by election judges and local election officials, in the first instance, or by Coleman as part of the absentee ballot review process pursuant to order of the Minnesota Supreme Court.

2. In a complete about-face from his previous position, Coleman now alleges that approximately 4,800 absentee ballots were rejected in error. Of those, Franken agrees that the absentee ballots identified in attached Exhibit X should be opened and counted or, as to those rejected for lack of registration, the envelopes should be opened to determine if voter registration applications were submitted.

3. Franken further alleges that the absentee ballots identified in attached Exhibit Y, but not among those identified by Coleman, should be opened and counted or, as to those rejected for lack of registration, the envelopes should be opened to determine if voter registration applications were submitted.

4. A number of the absentee ballot envelopes and related materials identified in Exhibits X and Y are the subject of pending Minnesota Government Data Practices requests and trial subpoenas. Franken expects to refine these Exhibits as information is received and as evidence is adduced at trial.

SECOND COUNTERCLAIM

MISSING BALLOTS

5. In a number of precincts, ballots went missing between Election Day and the recount, to the considerable detriment of Franken and voters in those precincts. Under Minnesota case law, a ballot serves as the best evidence of a vote. But when ballots are missing, election officials must turn to the next best evidence: here, the vote totals provided by election officials on Election Day.

6. Ballots went missing during the course of the recount from the following precincts, resulting in a net loss of 64 votes for Franken:

COUNTY	PRECINCT	NET LOSS TO FRANKEN
Chisago	Chisago City A	1
Clay	Moorhead 1-3	5
Clay	Oakport Township	5
Dakota	Inver Grove Heights 4	4
Dakota	Rosemount 4	6
Hennepin	Brooklyn Center 7	4
Hennepin	Minneapolis 3-3	5
Hennepin	Plymouth 3-18	1
Hennepin	Richfield 1-4	2
Hubbard	Todd Township 1	2

Olmsted	Rochester 3-6	2
Ramsey	St. Paul 5-2	5
Ramsey	St. Paul 5-8	6
Stearns	St. Cloud 3-1	2
Washington	Cottage Grove 9	5
Washington	Oak Park Heights 2	7
Washington	Woodbury 10	2

7. The net loss to Franken from missing ballots should be restored to Franken's vote total.

THIRD COUNTERCLAIM

APPLICATION OF RECOUNT RULE 9

8. As pleaded above, the parties, the Secretary of State's Office, and the State Canvassing Board, through Rule 9 and the clarification issued thereunder, agreed on the treatment and counting of original and duplicate ballots. Coleman is estopped from challenging the results of the very process to which he agreed.

9. In a number of precincts, Coleman gained net votes from the application of Rule 9, the rule that now he apparently wishes to abrogate.

10. To the extent that Coleman is not bound by Rule 9 (and he is), Franken would be entitled to adjustments in vote totals in precincts where Coleman benefited, or Franken was disadvantaged, by the application of Rule 9.

FOURTH COUNTERCLAIM

BALLOTS IN A BOX IN BECKER COUNTY

11. Several precincts in Becker County are mail ballot precincts, which means that no polling place exists in the precinct for voters to use on election day. Instead, in advance of an election, county elections officials in mail ballot precincts send ballots by mail to all registered voters in the precinct. A voter then has the ability to complete the mail ballot and return it to the county. Non-registered voters in mail ballot precincts can also vote by applying for an absentee ballot and returning the ballot envelope to the county with appropriate voter registration materials.

12. Absentee and mail ballot envelopes which voters return to counties are retained by the counties until election day. On election day, election judges for each mail ballot precinct travel to the county offices to process and count mail and absentee ballots that had been received by the county.

13. Minnesota has adopted rules governing how both mail and absentee ballot envelopes must be retained by counties prior to election day. Minn. R. 8210.2300 provides that a county auditor must retain absentee ballot return envelopes in its office in the manner specified part 8210.2400 of the Minnesota Rules.

14. Minn. R. 8210.2400 in turn provides that “the auditor or clerk shall establish a record of absentee ballot return envelopes which are retained in the office” of the county auditor. The required record must contain the voter’s name, address and precinct number, and the date the ballot was received by the county. The rule further provides that retained ballot envelopes “shall be placed in a locked, secure location after being dated, stamped and recorded,” and that “the envelopes shall not be removed from this location or handled until election day.”

15. Minn. R. 8210.2400(E) further provides that on election day, ballot return envelopes retained by the county “shall be removed from the place of safe keeping and compared with the record required by this rule to ensure that all envelopes are accounted for. Any discrepancy shall be reported to the Secretary of State promptly.”

16. Contrary to these Rules, in connection with the November 2008 election, Becker County did not maintain the required record of absentee and mail ballot return envelopes that it received and retained until election day. It kept no record at all. In addition, Becker County did not stamp each received ballot with the date it was received. It did not keep all retained ballot envelopes in a secure location where they would remain unhandled until election day, and instead apparently kept retained ballots in a cardboard box that it handled and moved around on a daily basis. Also, Becker County did not follow rules which require it on election day to compare the ballot return envelopes against a list of retained envelopes prior to providing the ballot envelopes to election judges to ensure that all are accounted for.

17. On election day, election judges from the mail ballot precincts counted mail ballots and absentee ballots for each precinct and reported the results to the county, which reported the results to the Minnesota Secretary of State.

18. On November 6, 2008, Becker County conducted its canvass and reported the total votes from its canvass to the Secretary of State's office.

19. On Friday, November 7, 2008, while sorting through unused election materials kept in a storage room in the Becker County Auditor/Treasurer's office, the Election Coordinator for Becker County discovered a cardboard box containing 64 absentee and mail ballot return envelopes. The ballot envelopes were from the mail ballot precincts of Atlanta Township, Callaway Township, Riceville Township, Round Lake Township, and Wolf Lake Township, and non-mail precincts City of Callaway and Shell Lake Township.

20. Of the 64 ballots, some were received by the County before election day (some as early as four weeks before the election) and some were received on election day. However, 13 contain no information to determine when they were received by the County, before or after election day.

21. The Election Coordinator for Becker County, who is in charge of all mail ballot precincts in the County, testified at a deposition that she has no idea how the ballots came to be located in the cardboard box several days after the election. She also was unable to state where the ballots had been between the date they were originally received and November 7, 2008. The Election Coordinator also could not say who had access to the ballot envelopes between the date that they were originally received and November 7, 2008.

22. Despite the chain of custody problems for the 64 mail and absentee ballot envelopes, Becker County chose to process them. The County rejected 3 of the 64 ballot envelopes and accepted 61.

23. During the state wide recount of the ballots cast for the United States senate race, Becker County chose to open and count the 61 ballots over the objection of the Franken campaign. As a result of the counting of these 61 ballots, Coleman gained 22 net votes.

24. Because of the fact that there was no evidence to establish an appropriate chain of custody for the 61 ballots, the ballots should not have been counted as part of the recount.

25. In addition to the chain of custody problems applicable to found the ballots, upon information and belief some of the 61 ballots counted during the recount were from voters who submitted other ballots that were counted on election day, resulting in double voting. Investigation is ongoing.

26. As a result of the chain of custody and other problems with the 64 ballots found in a cardboard box after election day, the 61 of those ballots which were counted during the recount should not have been counted.

FIFTH COUNTERCLAIM

VOTES BY FELONS

27. Under Minn. Stat. § 201.014, subd. 2, individuals convicted of felonies whose civil rights have not been restored are ineligible to vote. Under Minn. Stat. § 204C.13, if election judges determine that a voter is not eligible to vote, they must place the ballot of that voter unopened among the spoiled ballots.

28. On November 4, 2008, Eric S. Willems cast a ballot for Coleman at the Lake Town Hall polling station in Roseau County. Although Mr. Willems is a convicted felon whose voting rights have not been restored, local election judges erroneously allowed Mr. Willems' ballot to be placed in the ballot box. It was thereafter included among the votes certified by the State Canvassing Board on January 5, 2009.

29. Mr. Willems' ballot was not lawfully cast, and therefore was erroneously included in the votes certified by the State Canvassing Board on January 5, 2009.

WHEREFORE, Contestee Al Franken respectfully requests the following relief:

1. That Contestants' Notice of Contest be dismissed with prejudice.
2. That, to the extent it has jurisdiction, the Court declare and adjudge that Contestant Al Franken is the party to the contest who received the highest number of votes legally cast and is entitled to the certificate of election;
3. That the Court grant Franken attorney fees and costs.
4. That the Court grant to Franken such other relief as is just and equitable.

Dated: February 21, 2009.
