Invoices for Stinson Leonard Street were redacted in accordance with the Stipulation and Protective Order approved by the Court on September 9, 2016, which provided as follows:

The parties agree that counsel for the Special Administrator may redact out three categories of entries before sharing the Stinson Invoices. Those are entries that divulge: 1) highly sensitive information (including entries disclosing civil and criminal investigations); 2) instances in which one potential heir expressly conflicts with another potential heir(s); or 3) instances in which there is a potential conflict between an heir and the Estate of Prince Roger Nelson.

No party has objected to the redactions of the Stinson Leonard Street Invoices.
